Residence Destroyed by Fire—Died of Heart Disease—Tramp Loses a Foot—Dr. Miller's Success—New Democratic Daily Paper.

Death From Heart Disease.

Mrs. Herbert Collier, of St. Bethlehem, Tenn., dropped dead at the home of her father, Mr. Ferdinand McBride last Thursday. Mrs. Collier had suffered with heart disease for some time, and it finally caused her death.

Work Progressing Nicely.

The work of putting in the rock foundation for the Acme Mills is progressing very nicely. A large force of stone masons are engaged at the work, and with good weather this part of the work will be completed within three weeks.

The Louisville Dispatch.

The Sunday edition of the Louisville Dispatch was delivered yesterday morning early, the connections having been missed the day before. The paper starts out with 60 columns of advertisements and more subscribers than any other daily in the State. The first copy of the weekly will appear to-morrow.

School Trustees to be Elected.

Three trustees of the white public schools are to be elected on Saturday, May 1. Those whose terms expire are Messrs. Joe McCarroll, J. P. Braden and T. W. Blakey. Their successors will be elected for a term of three years. Only white voters will take part in the election.

Dwelling Destroyed by Fire.

The large dwelling house of Mr. Geo. E. Boyd, of Kelly, together with its contents, was destroyed by fire Sunday evening. The flames originated from a defective flue. Loss estimated at $4,000. It could not be learned whether Mr. Boyd carried any insurance or not.

Dr. Miller's Successor.

Dr. H. P. Sights, of Henderson, has been appointed first assistant physician of the Western Asylum for the Insane, to succeed Dr. F. A. Miller, who resigned last winter. His home paper, the Henderson Journal, says of the new doctor:

"In accepting the place Dr. Sights sacrifices a growing and lucrative practice here. He is a young physician of high attainment and is able to give many friends in Henderson will be very sorry to lose him, but the Commonwealth is to be congratulated on securing his services. It is not known as yet when Dr. Sights will assume his new duties. It is likely, however, that he will go to Hopkinsville within the next few days."

Prize Money For Missouri Editors.

Mr. Chas. M. Meacham left yesterday for Columbia, Mo., to act as judge in a prize contest between the editors of Missouri.

The Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., of St. Louis, has deposited with the State Board of Agriculture $1,500 to be awarded to the twenty-six editors of country papers in the State of Missouri, who have written or published in the last six months of their respective papers the best articles on the subject of "The Tobacco Industry in Missouri." The first prize is $500, the second $250 and the prizes range downward, the fourteen lowest being $10 each.

Chas. M. Meacham, of Kentucky, and W. H. Griffin, of Tennessee, have been selected as judges and these gentlemen have chosen Royal E. Purcell, of Indiana, to act with them in the event they cannot agree. The awarding committee will meet to-day in Columbia, Mo., the awards being made under the supervision of the State Board of Agriculture.

Foot Crushed Off.

A stranger giving the name of F. G. Hosman, of Yonkers, N. Y., fell under a freight train Thursday night, near the Clarksville crossing, and had one foot so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. Hosman is a young man about 21 years old and was on his way to Nashville, Tenn., to join a brother, who preceded him last week. He was tramping it and attempted to board the L. & N. freight train No. 63, but his hands slipped off the ladder of one of the box cars and one foot fell across the rail. The young man was found shortly after the accident and was taken to a room in the passenger depot, where his leg was amputated about eight inches below the knee by Drs. Blakey & Eager. He was taken to a boarding house on Mechanic street and at last accounts was getting along quite nicely. He requested that his family be notified of the accident, giving as a reason that they were poor and would be unable to help him. They were not informed of the mishap.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Mine Explosion With Fatal Results at Madisonville.

Madisonville, Ky., April 17.—There was an explosion in the Monarch mine at this place this afternoon at 3 o'clock, which resulted in the death of two miners. They were Robt. Carlton and Thomas Stone, both white and men with families. B. F. Trathin, the mine boss, escaped by crawling a quarter of a mile to the air shaft.

The explosion was caused by coal dust, which had accumulated in the mine during the week. By good fortune the force of men employed in the plant, thirty-eight in number, had knocked off for the day, and only the mine boss and two men were in the mine at the time. Carlton and Stone are shooters and were making the shots preparatory to to-morrow's work, when the dust in the hole was ignited and the flame was communicated to the rest of the mine.

Twenty minutes after the explosion occurred a rescuing party was organized and at 11 o'clock to-night recovered the bodies. That of Stone was horribly burned. The damage to the mine was $1,800.

Tobacco Thieves.

Clarksville, Tenn., April 16.—A system of wholesale tobacco thievery has been unearthed in this city. For some time tobacco in great quantity has been missing from the People's Warehouse. Officer Stafford this morning about 6 o'clock arrested Thomas Allen, colored, having a spring wagon load in charge, taking it to E. R. Bogard's factory to sell it. Allen implicated J. W. H. Peyton and his son, William Peyton, colored. All were arrested and locked up. They were tried before Squire Smith, and William Peyton and Thomas Allen were bound over to court under bonds of $500 each. Old man Peyton was released. Pagarit testified that he had bought a number of loads of tobacco from these parties, who were all employed at the People's Warehouse, but they had represented to him that they were given permission to pick up and have all tobacco on the floor of the warehouse after inspection had been made.

Wrong Finally Righted.

Clarksville, Tenn., April 15.—The second chapter in the story of the elopement of Miss Lizzy Thompson, of Paducah, to meet her lover, Dave C. Howlett, his subsequent abandonment of her and her search for him in this city, as told in these dispatches yesterday, has been made public.

The Clarksville police located Howlett, and notified Miss Thompson just as she was about to leave for home, money having been furnished her with which to purchase a ticket by charitable ladies here. The girl found him here, told him he had to marry her, a license was secured and the ceremony followed. In this way was a wrong righted.

Indictments by the Wholesale.

Paducah, Ky., April 17.—The grand jury to-day returned about 25 indictments, which have been suppressed by the authorities, and their contents can only be surmised. The cases known to have been under investigation are the Cope embezzlement, an alleged steal of about $3,000 from the Paducah Street railway last summer, charges of bribery in the recent primary election, bucket show operators, and immorality charges against some very prominent parties. The authorities absolutely refuse to divulge any information concerning them.

Bryan in Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky., April 17.—Senator C. C. McCord this afternoon received a telegram from Senator Blackburn, who is in Louisville, stating that Mr. Bryan had accepted the invitation to the Legislature, and would speak in Frankfort Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. An immense crowd will greet him, and he will likely speak in the Statehouse yard if the weather permits.

Hite and Cody May Escape.

Morganfield, Ky., April 17.—Hite and Cody, who shot and killed Deputy Constable Green at DeKoven Wednesday, have not yet been captured. Yesterday they stopped at Mr. Wm. Wilkins, near Houshau, and forced him at the muzzle of a Winchester to give them their supper. It now looks as if they will make good their escape.

Dropped Dead While Plowing.

Caliz, Ky., April 19.—Nathan Guier, a well known farmer living three miles south of here, dropped dead Saturday, while plowing. Heart disease caused his death. He was 63 years old and a member of the Methodist church. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn their loss.

Distillery to Re-open.

Uniontown, Ky., April 16.—The Mutual Distillery, which has been idle for several months, will resume operations about May 1. The Daugherty cooper shops, which supply its barrels, will be opened at once.

AH! THERE, GUMSHOE.

THE GRAND JURY INDICTS HUNTER AND HIS PALS.

Charged With Bribery and Hunter May be Caught For Perjury—Broncho Franks One of Them.

Frankfort, Ky., April 17.—The grand jury at 10:30 o'clock this morning made a partial report to Judge Cantrell and asked leave to sit again next week. Five indictments, all for conspiracy to bribe members of the Legislature, were returned, against Dr. Hunter, J. H. Wilson, E. T. Franks, Noel Gaines and Brother-in-law Tanner.

The proposed indictment for perjury against Dr. Hunter is still pending before the jury.

The indictment reads as follows: "Franklin County, Circuit Court—Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. W. Godfrey Hunter, John H. Wilson, Noel Gaines, E. T. Franks and Thos. R. Tanner, of the office of conspiring together to corrupt and bribe members of the Kentucky Legislature, committed as follows, viz: That they the said W. Godfrey Hunter, John H. Wilson, Noel Gaines, E. T. Franks and Thos. R. Tanner, on the 15 day of April, 1897, in the county aforesaid, the said W. Godfrey Hunter being then and there a candidate before the Legislature of the State of Kentucky for the office of Senator from the said State in the Congress of the United States, and W. G. Gosson, Nerge Clarke and John H. Johns, being duly elected members of the said Legislature, lawfully convened in power and authority of casting, each a vote in the election of a Senator from the State of Kentucky in the Congress of the United States, they the said W. Godfrey Hunter, John H. Wilson, Noel Gaines, E. T. Franks and Thos. R. Tanner, did unlawfully, corruptly and wickedly conspire, contrive, confederate and agree together to attempt to bribe them, the said W. G. Gosson, Nerge Clarke and John H. Johns, and to offer them a sum of five thousand dollars each, for the vile purpose of securing, and influencing them to cast their votes at the time and in the manner provided by law for said election for the said W. Godfrey Hunter and his unlawful pal, means to secure his election for the said office, against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Kentucky."

JOHN S. SMITH, Commonwealth's Attorney.

Witnesses: John W. Gaines, Fred L. Gordon, Mrs. Daisy Gaines, W. H. Clarke, Mrs. J. B. Lewis, Chas. Willis, John H. Stuart, D. R. Collier.

Bench warrants will be issued returnable for next term of the court. Bail has been fixed at $250. Judge Cantrell said: "It is not my purpose to try these cases until the next term of my court, but if the parties come in court and ask for an immediate trial I will proceed with the cases if I have time during this term, otherwise the cases will go over until September."

John W. Rodman has been employed to defend Hunter, Wilson and Franks and held a conference with them.

James Andrew Scott has been employed to defend Gaines and Tanner. Hunter's friends are so sure that the perjury charge was not returned, that a charge of conspiracy and attempt to bribe is a common law offense, and the penalty is fine and imprisonment at discretion of jury.

Dr. Hunter was asked what effect the charges would have on his candidacy if he were still to be a candidate. He replied that he would, and requested a friend standing by to make the statement that "Dr. Hunter is a victim of a conspiracy, and he will yet be elected."

Only a formal ballot was taken to-day and a truce has been declared until Tuesday.

GREECE AND TURKEY.

Formal Declaration of War Will Soon be Declared.

Constantinople, April 17.—The Council of Ministers after a session at the Palace to-day, declared that war had broken out on the frontier owing to the incursion by the Greeks on Turkish territory, and Edhem Pasha, the Turkish military commander, was ordered to assume the offensive.

The situation is summed up in a detailed circular sent this evening to the Turkish representatives abroad. This circular recalls the week's invasion of Turkish territory, and stated that the new incursion was participated in by Greek troops, thereby establishing war.

The circular expresses hope that the powers in a spirit of justice, will agree that the entire responsibility for the war falls on Greece. Turkey has no idea of conquering the circular adds, and as a result of the recent sentiments the Sublime Porte offers to retire the Turkish troops on the frontier if Greece will retire her forces from the frontier and from Crete.

THE GRAND JURY INDICTS HUNTER AND HIS PAL.

Charg With Bribery and Hunter May be Caught For Forgery—Branches Franks One of Them.

Frankfort, Ky., April 17.—The grand jury at 10:30 o'clock this morning made a partial report to Judge Cantrill and asked leave to sit again next week. Five indictments, all for conspiracy to bribe members of the Legislature, were returned, against Dr. Hunter, J. H. Wilson, E. T. Franks, Noel Gaines and Brother-in-law Tanner.

The proposed indictment for perjury against Dr. Hunter is still pending before the jury.

The indictment read as follows:

"Franklin County Circuit Court—Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. W. Godfrey Hunter, John H. Wilson, Noel Gaines, E. T. Franks and Thos. R. Tanner, of the offense of conspiring together to corrupt and bribe members of the Kentucky Legislature, committed as follows, viz:

"That they the said W. Godfrey Hunter, John H. Wilson, Noel Gaines, E. T. Franks and Thos. R. Tanner, on the 15 day of April, 1897, in the county aforesaid, the said W. ## Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

PUBLISHED TUESDAY AND FRIDAY MORNING

BY CHAS. M. MEACHAM,

Subscription $2 a year in advance.

L. C. Meacham, proprietor. The paper is published weekly, except on Sundays and holidays. It contains the latest news, and is a valuable source of information to the public.

—TUESDAY, APRIL 20, 1897—

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

CIRCUIT JUDGE,
THOMAS F. COOK,
of Calloway.COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY,
W. R. HOWELL,
of Christian.

Carter H. Harrison was installed as Mayor, of Chicago on the 15th inst.

May 24 will be Kentucky day at the Tennessee Centennial.

Nearly all of the State Press Associations will make excursions to Nashville this year.

Congressman Seth L. Milliken, of Maine, is critically ill with something like pneumonia.

Hostilities have begun between the Turks and Greeks, the Greeks being the aggressors.

Gen. Rivera is said to be suffering greatly from his wounds and his life is despaired of. He will not be executed.

Congressman Shattuck, of Ohio, has appointed a negro cadet to the Annapolis Naval school. He will be the only one there.

Patterson, New Jersey, Hobart's town, which gave McKinley 3,400 majority last year, went Democratic last week by 1,500 majority.

About one-third of the wheat has been winter-killed around Leitchfield. The farmers are preparing the ground formerly sown in wheat for corn.

Bristow continues to grind out about a hundred postmortems a day, but Kentucky is still left out and will get no pie of any sort until a Senator is elected.

The great fires at Knoxville, Nashville and Chattanooga will leave little insurance profits in the State of Tennessee this year. The losses amounted to over $100,000.

Mr. Bryan lectured on "Bimetallism" to a big crowd in Louisville Saturday night. Afterwards he was entertained by Allen R. Carter, of the Dispatch.

The Louisville banks are resisting the payment of taxes under the recent decision of the court of appeals and have filed suits restraining the State from collecting the taxes.

July wheat went up four cents Saturday, closing at 73 cents. If it will only stay up until the producers have a crop to sell, there will be a touch of real prosperity in the eastern states.

The deposed Democratic committee of Jefferson county has elected M. W. Neal as chairman to fill a vacancy and the new committee has elected Jas. T. O'Neal to a similar position. As both are good silver men it is now merely a question of Neal or O'Neal, with the O'Neal committee recognized by the party authorities.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton, wife of Theodore Tilton, and about whom the great Beecher-Tilton scandal arose twenty or more years ago, died in Brooklyn last week, aged 70 years. Theodore Tilton still lives in Paris. Rev. Henry Ward Beecher lived down the scandal and continued as pastor of Brooklyn church until his death.

Why should Democrats elect Henry Martin to the Senate? He is not only out of accord with the party on the money question, but is at the same time a protectionist who advocated and pushed by the sugar bounty of a few years ago. It is true he has been a staunch supporter of Senator Blackburn, but he was elected by Blackburn's own people to do that very thing and as an honorable man he could not do otherwise, without sinking to the level of the Baids, the Stephansons, the Violets and other sweet-scented nosogays in the present Legislature, who have betrayed their constituents.

Sparking of delegates, Bob Hodges of Eddyville, is not only a politician of the first water but is a born delegate who has taken all of the degrees. No man took a more prominent part in the recent Eddyville convention than he. He was red-hot for Cook & Howell and never let up until he had landed both of his men as winners. His ability as a political manager was displayed all through the convention and his influence extended into other delegations besides that of Lyon county. He made himself agreeable and popular with all the delegations. On the floor of the convention he was cool and calculating even in the most exciting moments and never once lost his head. Bob might not be able to take the first prize at a beauty show, but he is a mighty good man to have on your side in politics.

The first issue of the new Democratic state organ, the Louisville Dispatch, appeared Sunday and was all that its promoters had promised. Hon. B. A. Balow is the editor-in-chief, E. C. McDowell, managing editor; Dick Ryan, telegraph editor; Dick Work, city editor, and the editorial staff is made up of Perry Farnsley, Chas. Wickliffe, Ben Watt, Albert Rogers, Henry Drescher and others. Allen R. Carter is business manager and Tom Drewery advertising solicitor. The paper is strictly first-class in its get up and as the only Democratic daily in Louisville it has a great field to draw its support from and its success is assured in advance.

It is about time for the daily papers to drop that rank fake about an airship that is seen only at night and then in Nebraska, Indiana, Tennessee and Kentucky at the same time. An Illinois scientist says the distorted appearance of Venus, surrounded by a haze, is the heavenly body that has been mistaken for a monster airship with an electric headlight.

Massachusetts, Virginia, Ohio and Iowa will hold state elections in November. In three of the four states mentioned the Republicans may look out for defeat. Massachusetts is to radical too count on.

Congressman Seth L. Milliken, for years representing the Third Maine district, died in Washington Sunday night from a complication of troubles.

SLOWLY SUBSIDING

Are the Waters in the Submerged Delta.

Memphis, April 17.—Throughout the flooded Mississippi Delta today the situation is more encouraging. The backwaters are slowly falling, passing through the Yazoo into the main channel north of Vicksburg. At Helena the river has fallen nearly five feet since April 4.

In the northern part of that city which has been under water for more than three weeks, the water has fallen sufficiently to allow many people to move back into their houses. The water inside the southern part of the city is fast disappearing by means of gigantic pumps which are kept running night and day.

At Rosedale, Friars Point, Greenville and other Delta points the river is falling. At Memphis a fall of one tenth of a foot is recorded, the gauge registering 33.7 at 7 o'clock.

Hanged White Flamingo.

Bowling Green, Ky., April 17.—A son of London Pedigo, who lives at Trammel, Allen County, a few miles from the city, accidentally hanged himself this morning. The boy was playing in the barn when the accident happened, and when found he was hanging from a rafter with a rope around his neck.

Mr. L. C. Allison, who lives in the Chandler's Chapel neighborhood, in this county, is the owner of a mare that last week gave birth to two colts, one of which was a horse and the other a mule colt. Some people may doubt this and it is the only case of the kind on record, but it is an actual fact and is vouched for by unimpeachable witnesses. —Russellville Ledger.

Gloomy, Hopeless Life

Internal Pains—Lame, Tired, Nervous—Every Bad Symptom Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"For nearly five years I suffered with a severe case of stomach trouble. I had pains in my stomach and bowels so that I could not stand or work without great suffering. My appetite was very poor and when I did eat anything I was shortly afterwards seized with vomiting spells. I could not rest at night and felt lame and tired all over. I became nervous and had no energy whatever. My life seemed gloomy and hopeless. My husband advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as he had been taking it with great benefit. I began taking it and the first bottle did me a great deal of good. I continued with it regularly and have now almost fully regained my natural weight and am doing nearly all my housework."

"My blood was out of order and I had no energy. After taking two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I felt better than for a year." MARY W. SMITH, Collinsville, Alabama.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by druggists, $1.00 per bottle. Be sure to get Hood's.

The largest and finest jack in this end of the State will make the present season at my farm three miles south of Casey station for $10 to insure a colt.

I also have a high bred three year old jack that I will stand at $6.

I also have a nice smooth, four year old jack, about 14 hands. A quick, lively fellow that I would farm out for the season.

Pedigrees of the above jacks are first class in every particular.

R. F. RIVES.

Vacation Days.

In the Lake Regions of Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota, along the lines of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, are hundreds of charming localities presciently fitted for summer homes, nearly all of which are located on or near lakes which have not been finished out. There resorts range in variety from the "full dress for dinner" to the flannel costume for every meal. Among the list are names familiar to our readers as the perfection of Northern summer resorts. Nearly all of the Wisconsin points of interest are within a short distance from Chicago or Milwaukee, and none of them are so far away from the "busy marts of civilization" that they cannot be reached in a few hours of travel, by frequent trains, over the finest road in the Northwest—the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. Send a two cent stamp for a copy of "Vacation Days" giving a description of the principal resorts, and a list of summer hotels and boarding houses, and rates of board, to Geo. H. Hanford, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Ill.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

May 24 will be Kentucky Day at the Tennessee Centennial Exposition. Wheat scored a sharp advance at Chicago, Thursday.

A revolution has broken out in the republic of Honduras.

The mother of Senator Mark Hanna died at Asheville, N. C.

There is a prospect of gold exports in the near future.

Nate Gooch, a young man of Wayneburg, was killed by a train at Eubanks.

Thirty one hundred votes were polled in the Union county Democratic primary.

Mr. W. T. Thornton is numbering the streets and houses in Madisonville.

Ida Williams, was found dead in a Louisville cell having committed suicide.

Audrey Wepler, the well-known saloon-keeper and former politician, died to-day.

Abner Feltner committed suicide in Leslie county because his sweetheart had given him the mitten.

The President has decided that he will be unable to attend the Nashville Exposition on the opening day.

In the House the bill reducing the salary of the Assistant Adjutant General to $1 per annum was killed.

The house at Frankfort passed a bill amending fourth-class city charters to allow additional taxes for school purposes.

Joha Combs, a prominent farmer living near Hyden, Ky., was bitten by a rattlesnake. He died three hours after in great agony.

The Governor put his signature to two bills, the anti-egg-throwing measure and that limiting the salary of the Louisville Coroner's stenographer.

Arthur W. Platt is on trial at Lexington on the charge of killing an inmate of the insane asylum thirteen years ago.

The State Senate killed the bill compelling County Judges to appoint election officers, as recommended by party committees.

Twenty-one seamen from the Norwegian ship, Scuta, were picked up in mid-ocean after having been given up for lost.

Congressman Wheeler was turned down by Speaker Reed in an effort to secure aid for Western Kentucky flood sufferers.

The Peddlers' Protective Association filed articles of incorporation at Corington. The purpose of the association is the prevention of peddling without license.

The Texas Legislature has passed a bill taxing life, fire and fidelity insurance companies on their gross earnings, and also taxing dining cars, sleeping cars, and the franchise of all foreign corporations.

The number of Scribner's Magazine appearing at Easter-time is always particularly bright and attractive both in contents and illustrations.

The April issue this year contains two full-page compositions by Gorge, called "A Roman Easter"; a portrait by Howard Cushing; the "Transformation scene in 'De Wille van 't Hout'; by William Hoge; Albert Herter's illustration for "Cor Feccatrix"; and Gibson's "London" as some of its artistic features.

Of special importance is Combs Monkhoe's article on William Quiller Orchardson, R. A., the Scotch painter, who came to Louisville in 1862 and won speedy recognition. Mr. Monkhoe received the artist's help in choosing the ten pictures that illustrate the article. Orchardson is a great colorist, and is best known, perhaps, as the painter of "Napoleon on the Bellerophon." Orchardson has, it is said, that rare gift of "inward vision," which presents to his mind pictures so clear and strong, almost to their details, that he can transfer them to his canvas with little hesitation or trial.

The Pullman Palace Car Co. is preparing to make a display of its cars at the Tennessee Centennial. The same train which was on exhibition at the World's Fair, and later at the Atlanta Exposition, will be displayed. This train was built for the exclusive purpose of exhibition and has never been in service since it was built. The cars themselves are of the very latest pattern and represent the greatest triumphs in sleeping car building. They are very carefully kept in the company's round house at Pullman and are only taken out for exhibition.

In addition to the exhibit made at the two Expositions named, the exhibit at the Tennessee Centennial will contain an entirely new feature. An exact model of the original car sleeper No. 3, which was the car converted into a sleeper by George M. Pullman when he was a young man endeavoring to interest managers in his scheme. The day coach was remodeled into a sleeper in 1859, and was borrowed from the Chicago & Alton, which gave one of its cast-away cars for the experiment.

The reproduced car is 45 feet long, which is a little over half as long as the sleeping cars of to-day. It will be placed on a track adjacent to the exhibition train and will be one of the most unique and interesting features of the exhibit.

March, April, May.

Almost ever one has come to believe that March, April and May is a season that brings derangements of the body dependent on blood impurities. This belief is an old one, is nearly universal, and has arisen, not as the result of the teachings of the medical fraternity, but has been learned in the bitter school of experience. Depressure of the nervous system at the approach of spring is a fertile source of blood impurities—general lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continual tired feelings, with irregular appetite, and some time loss of sleep.

Pe-ru-na meets every indication and proves itself to be perfectly adapted to all these varied peculiarities. Pe-ru-na invigorates the system, rejuvenates the feeling restores the normal appetite and procures regular sleep. That tired feeling which is the natural result of the depressing effect of warm weather immediately after the invigorating cold of winter, quickly disappears when Pe-ru-na is taken. Thousands are daily testifying to its priceless benefit.

All who desire Dr. Horstman's latest book on this interesting subject can obtain one for a short time free by addressing The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, O.

In a front yard across the street some early spring flowers avant-couriers of her dainty lady slip, are blooming to the delight of the passer-by. It makes one forget all about the long winter to look up such work of these last few days of sunshine.

Down in Tennessee the wild flowers must be lifting their tiny heads from tangled thickets and mossy beds; the "blue bells" are surely smiling up to the nodding ferns, and the gold of the "lady's slipper" be gleaming in many a hidden nook. Oh yes! the "first offerings of spring" are covering the invaders' path, then pink and white loveliness while down below the same old brook is singing its soothing melody. The birds come to listen and, perhaps, some even be-mocking bird tries to imitate its plaintive murmur: Down in the valley and over the hills the brooding sweetness of an April day must linger, and, how peaceful the scene! Memory is a faithful artist and paints it true for me. What does Schiller say?

—The world wakes once more, and, the new joy,
Woe all to leave their narrow cloister
For the bright air and fresh 'n' breathing of spring.

Sadness comes with the thought of those who may not share the pleasure with us—they have passed on to "higher glories," yet this world seems so beautiful to-day we would fain have them back again—to see the blue above and the green below, to feel the warmth of the sun and know its life!

On a day like this when we have what Longfellow calls a "dreamy and magical light," the pretty cares of daily life seem to dwindle away, and leave room for something deeper, truer to our natures. The possibilities—the ambitions of life appear more vividly real, and we see the pessimist with his cold and calculating creed. We will accept the inevitable with the philosophy of the Puritans—poor backward for yesterday, forward for to-morrow and over head for to-day!

The spring will get into the blood and brain, and it is good that it does. It sets us dreaming about days in Old Tennessee and the "fishing holes" in the creek, and the robins building their nests in the cherry trees, and the smell of the lilacs in the yard! We can almost hear the "gee, haw," of the old darkey, plowing on the hillside.

Gor, Atkinson, of Georgia, in a suit of blue denim, overalls, a miner's cap and with a miner's lamp, accompanied by Principal Keeper Turner, similarly attired, went into Durham mine, near Chickamauga, and explored every chamber, going a distance of several miles from the entrance. His was the first purpose of seeing the convicts at their daily work. Many fell on their knees and begged for pardon.

The Pullman Palace Car Co. is preparing to make a display of its cars at the Tennessee Centennial. The same train which was on exhibition at the World's Fair, and later at the Atlanta Exposition, will be displayed. This train was built for the exclusive purpose of exhibition and has never been in service since it was built. The cars themselves are of the very latest pattern and represent the greatest triumphs in sleeping car building. They are very carefully kept in the company's round house at Pullman and are only taken out for exhibition.

In addition to the exhibit made at the two Expositions named, the exhibit at the Tennessee Centennial will contain an entirely new feature. An exact model of the original car sleeper No. 3, which was the car converted into a sleeper by George M. Pullman when he was a young man endeavoring to interest managers in his scheme. The day coach was remodeled into a sleeper in 1859, and was borrowed from the Chicago & Alton, which gave one of its cast-away cars for the experiment.

The reproduced car is 45 feet long, which is a little over half as long as the sleeping cars of to-day. It will be placed on a track adjacent to the exhibition train and will be one of the most unique and interesting features of the exhibit.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; any sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stands in the glass, it is a positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and it overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effects of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I. A. S. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Morton McGeebe and Clarence Rosenfield had an exciting experience Sunday afternoon. They were coming from Hopkinsville on a tandem bicycle, and as they passed the church near Ringgold, they met a countryman riding a mule and driving a cow. The mule and cow both took fright at the bicycle, angering greatly the countryman, who commenced to abuse the cyclists. After the boys had ridden by, the cow made chase. The bicyclists made a "spur" thinking to soon distance the cow; but the faster they pedaled the faster ran the cow after them. Into the Ringgold bridge dashed the tandem. Then the riders determined upon a quick dismount and an effort to lodge their vicious pursuer. This plan proved effectual, the young men quickly finding a hiding place, and the cow, disappointed of her prey, contented herself with a bridge and, failing to see the bicycle and riders ahead, turned around in disgust and retraced her steps.—Clarksville Times.

JUST "TELL THEM I'M DEAD."

And Jenkins Trained the Office Boy for Doing So.

"Did you hear about Jenkins and his office boy?" asked Dr. Smith of a friend as they were going to lunch the other day.

"No, I didn't hear," replied the friend. "What about 'em?"

"Oh, Jenkins just kicked him all over the office and has been in mortal fear ever since that the boy would carry out a threat to leave him arrested," explained Dr. Smith.

"Why, what was he kicking his office boy for?" asked the friend.

"Well, the boy was one of the stupid kind, you see, and he had no sense of humor," went on Dr. Smith. "On the day Jenkins did the kicking he had been particularly busy and had been a good deal bothered by people who came in to ask questions of him and wanted to stop and talk. Jenkins was trying to get his correspondence cleared up, and he had him kind of hot to be interrupted so many times. He stood it a long while and then gathered up his paper and sneaked away with a stenographer into a back room."

"In going to get out of there, Johnnie," he said to the office boy when the place was finally clear of callers, "if any more people come I don't want to see them."

"What shall I tell 'em?" asked Johnnie.

"Oh, tell them anything," said Jenkins, impatiently. "Tell 'em I'm dead," he shouted as he slammed the door.

"Well, Johnnie took him at his word," continued Dr. Smith. "He wasn't a brilliant office boy at all. He was new in the office, and he thought Jenkins meant just what he said. Jenkins hadn't been out of the room three minutes before in walked a lady whom Johnnie had never seen before and asked if Mr. Jenkins was in."

"Nope, he ain't here any more," answered Johnnie.

"Isn't there any more?" repeated the lady, with surprise. "Why, where is he?"

"He's dead," answered Johnnie, carelessly.

"Dead!" shrieked the lady, piteously.

"Yes, ma'am, dead," repeated Johnnie, coolly. "Died this morning."

"Oh, mercy!" sobbed the woman, as she grabbed the back of a chair, and Jenkins, who was coming back to the room to get a communication he had forgotten when he first went out, got in just in time to see his wife sink to the floor in a dead faint.

They called in a doctor and restored her to consciousness, and then Jenkins started in on the kicking game, which he fears will land him in court. He has paid the lady's mother $50, but the kid says Jenkins will have to pay him $50, too, or go to jail. He ain't going to be kicked for doing what he was told, he says. —Chicago Times-Herald.

"On what ground?" inquired the court.

"I want a change of venue," repeated the defendant. "Oneous," one of these women is prejudiced against me." —Troy Times.

BARE HEROISM.

A Miner Crushes Himself to Save His Comrades' Lives.

A rare act of heroism, such as deserves to be recorded in history and song, was performed at Roseland, B. C., recently, which saved the lives of two miners and proved plain. Jen Hensworth to be one of a nation's noblemen. The Victoria cross has been bestowed on many less entitled to it than Hensworth.

It was at the shaft of the Young America mine at Roseland camp that Jen Smith and Frank Conson came so near meeting with a frightful death, which must have been certain and swift, but for the prompt and heroic action of their comrade above, who in saving their lives did so at the risk of his own.

Smith and Conson were working at the bottom of a narrow shaft, at a depth of nearly 150 feet, engaged in loading ore into an iron-bound bucket, while Jen Hensworth's duty consisted in hauling the bucket to the surface by means of a windlass.

The heavy bucket, filled with ore, had almost reached the top of the shaft, when the iron crank of the windlass suddenly snapped in twofold a bit of pine, hurling Hensworth to the ground. Springing to his feet, half dazed by the blow, Hensworth saw the windlass hurling around at a frightful rate of speed as the loaded bucket shot down the shaft upon the men below.

He had not a second to lose. There was just one chance to save them, and he took that chance. Jumping forward, he threw his body upon the cogs of the whirling windlass, thrusting his arms and shoulders between the swiftly revolving wheels.

Their iron jaws crunched and tore the flesh, crushed nerve, bone and sinews, tore ghastly wounds from finger tip to shoulder, but the windlass stopped still.

With an awful jerk the loaded bucket stopped just above the heads of the two terrified miners, far down in the shaft. Pale as death, and with blood flowing from him in streams, and suffering intense agony, he never uttered a cry nor even a sound as the wheel of the wheel pinioned him fast as a vise.

Superintendent Shields witnessed the accident from a short distance away, but so horrified was he at the sight that for a moment he stood as if paralyzed. Quickly recovering his faculties he rushed to the scene, and aid and in a twinkling had blocked the machinery and caused Hensworth to be released from his perilous position.

As Hensworth staggered back, he was about to fall, Shields caught him by his arms, and the doctor came here, saying: "My God, Jen, this is awful!"

"Oh, what the difference," answered the plucky fellow, "so long as I saved the boys."

It was not long, however, before the intense pain he suffered, together with the loss of blood, began to have their effect on Hensworth's powerful constitution, and he became too weak to stand. A litter was hastily formed by men who had by this time arrived. Tenderly the wounded man was placed upon it, and with the utmost care carried to Roseland, a mile away, and placed on a cot in the hospital. —San Francisco Examiner.

Oil on Steel Nuts.

There is being tested by the navy department a simple and inexpensive device of great value to shipbuilders. The invention consists of a mechanism which envelops the submerged portion of a ship with a film of oil, thus reducing friction and overcoming to a large degree the resistance of the water. It is said for the invention the inventor has received $25,000.

"Nope, he ain't here any more," answered Johnnie.

"Isn't there any more?" repeated the lady, with surprise. "Why, where is he?"

"He's dead," answered Johnnie, carelessly.

"Dead!" shrieked the lady, piteously.

KATE GARDNER'S CHAT.

Interesting Fashion Contribution to Easter Literature.

All About the Hats and Bonnets with Which Our Wives and Daughters Will Celebrate the Commemoration of Lent.

(Special Chicago Letter.)

The first hints of Dame Fashion as to novelties for the forthcoming season have already begun to show themselves in the world of millinery, and, judging from the many lovely patterns hats and bonnets seen within the week, she has indulged in more vagaries and idiosyncrasies than is her wont at this particular season of the year. Never were the styles prettier or more varied in design or more artistic in finish, and considering the excellent quality of material and fine workmanship, never were prices so reasonable as at the present time.

EASTER MILLINERY.

In the matter of material jeweled embroidery, beaded and chiffon-jetted lace and fancy straw of every description are held in the very highest favor, while the craze for rich and varied trimmings seems to be more than ever. Flowers, popular as they have been in past seasons, will be none the less so during the coming one, and the proper kind to buy, and when made into a smart-looking bow and perched high in the back gives an air of distinction and style to certain hats that otherwise would be altogether commonplace, not to say ugly. Hats, both large and small, made of the English straw in a small fancy plait showing an exceedingly shiny surface will be much sought after for spring and early summer wear. A wide variety is noticeable in many of the large hats, some being shaped like velvet, high crowns, while others, equally pretty and desirable, have crowns of the most modest height and insignificant dimensions. The "Napoleon" comes again of outline made it rather trying to wear, but the very few, come to us this season so changed and modified as to be hardly recognizable.

One of the prettiest of these Napoleonic hats that I have seen thus far was carried out in deep heliochrome straw and trimmed very simply with a big cockade of blue ribbon and lappets of cream-tinted lace or either side. Others again were decorated with a profusion of flowers. One in particular I might mention as being most beautiful. It was made of black satin straw and trimmed with large bunches of convolvulus, both yellow and black, while standing straight up from the crown were two bows of lace stiffly wired and held in place by handsome jetted buckles. The sailor hat, like the poor, we have ever seen. This season it comes up more than its accustomed season, and, in fact, the small toque shape in particular being most pleasing and one which I am sure the milliner will find extremely easy to copy.

The woman who numbers one or more silver gowns among her possessions and is not content with that, for she is certainly to be a season of silks. Plain and flowered gowns are equally in demand, and small cheeks and the latest styles are being worn by some of the best dressed women in many of their handiwork gowns. Much velvet and ribbon enters into the trimmings as well as jeweled embroidery and fine lace in the open pattern.

For warm weather wear nothing quite takes the place of the cool-looking simplicity or the more dressy elegance of the prettier hats. The dress is like that given in the illustration. This particular gown is in white silk, made over rose-pink silk. The skirt is ornamented with the latest bow of lace insertion, dipping towards the front, while at the bottom is a deep bell-shaped collar. The bodice has a large sailor collar, and the skirt has a large, while a large rosette of pink satin ribbon hides the joining of the belt.

The woman whose thoughts center on the latest fashions in dress is interested in her at the leading shops, where, I am told, the stock is much larger than has ever been carried before. Corduroy does not enter into the construction of the newest styles, cloth showing a plain or slightly rough surface having quite superseded it. The most popular colors are green and lavender, the latter being of a rather bright shade. The style of costume given in the picture seems to meet every requirement of the perfect wheeling dress, making it as it does durability, graceful appearance and appropriateness. It is made of cloth of medium weight, in dark green. The skirt reaches to ankle, measures quite three yards at the bottom, and the front and side breadths are lined with white silk. This lining does not add to the weight, yet keeps the skirt in proper position when the wearer is riding against the wind. The little jacket, which is slightly rippled, reaches to the waist, and the narrow revers being of tan-colored cloth braided in green. The knickerbockers that go with this outfit are somewhat different from any yet seen. They have scarcely any fullness at the hip and are drawn in neatly at the knee with elastic webbing and tucked in at the bottom. The waist approaches a skirt can be substituted for the cloth waistcoat.

WHITE MUSLIN GOWN.

the sailor-looking round sailor prombles to be as ubiquitous as in days past. The new shape, however, has a slightly curved rim and is intended to be worn so as to come down to the eyebrows in front, while at the back it is turned up very sharply and caught against the crown with big bows of lace ribbon. The crown is pale green, dark green, and light pink respectively and tied together in the back so that the ends of the bows stand up like the jaunty man's hair. The lace is of a black, black hats of the lampshade order, composed entirely of drawn glass silk and trimmed with many feathers and bright-hued flowers, are also the most charming little toques made up in different colored fancy straw and orn-mented on the left side, with large bunches of forget-me-nots and many of ribbon edged with narrow bands of real lace.

For a long time bonnets have been out of favor, except with the very few. The coming season, however, will see them restored to their old-time popularity, and they will be worn by both old and young. Some are wonderfully pretty, and will prove becoming to the majority of faces. The most desirable have jeweled crowns and the brims are hidden under clusters of fine flowers, like the violet, pansy, lily of the valley, etc. I wish to chronicle the charms of one seen yesterday. It was made in one of the new English straws in a lovely shade of pearl gray. The small high crown was of violet velvet, richly veined, while the brim, which was very much bent and peeping out here and there clusters of primroses. High on one side was a magpie formed of a single white lily with blossoms supported by bows of moire ribbon.

Tied under the chin with a string of gray tulle, and worn with a gown of gray tulle cloth arranged with a little bolero of gray velvet embroidered in white chenille, this little bonnet was a complete success. Tulle is being very much used as a kind of veiling, coming entirely in the shape of many of the newest bonnets and hats. It softens the outlines in a becoming manner, and in altogether so pretty a fashion that one can only regret the fact that it is destined to become too popular, and hence too common to last long.

It was made of black satin straw and trimmed with large bunches of convolvulus, both yellow and black, while standing straight up from the crown were two bows of lace stiffly wired and held in place by handsome jetted buckles. The sailor hat, like the poor, we have ever seen. This season it comes up more than its accustomed season, and, in fact, the small toque shape in particular being most pleasing and one which I am sure the milliner will find extremely easy to copy.

The woman who numbers one or more silver gowns among her possessions and is not content with that, for she is certainly to be a season of silks. Plain and flowered gowns are equally in demand, and small cheeks and the latest styles are being worn by some of the best dressed women in many of their handiwork gowns. Much velvet and ribbon enters into the trimmings as well as jeweled embroidery and fine lace in the open pattern.

For warm weather wear nothing quite takes the place of the cool-looking simplicity or the more dressy elegance of the prettier hats. The dress is like that given in the illustration. This particular gown is in white silk, made over rose-pink silk. The skirt is ornamented with the latest bow of lace insertion, dipping towards the front, while at the bottom is a deep bell-shaped collar. The bodice has a large sailor collar, and the skirt has a large, while a large rosette of pink satin ribbon hides the joining of the belt.

The woman whose thoughts center on the latest fashions in dress is interested in her at the leading shops, where, I am told, the stock is much larger than has ever been carried before. Corduroy does not enter into the construction of the newest styles, cloth showing a plain or slightly rough surface having quite superseded it. The most popular colors are green and lavender, the latter being of a rather bright shade. The style of costume given in the picture seems to meet every requirement of the perfect wheeling dress, making it as it does durability, graceful appearance and appropriateness. It is made of cloth of medium weight, in dark green. The skirt reaches to ankle, measures quite three yards at the bottom, and the front and side breadths are lined with white silk. This lining does not add to the weight, yet keeps the skirt in proper position when the wearer is riding against the wind. The little jacket, which is slightly rippled, reaches to the waist, and the narrow revers being of tan-colored cloth braided in green. The knickerbockers that go with this outfit are somewhat different from any yet seen. They have scarcely any fullness at the hip and are drawn in neatly at the knee with elastic webbing and tucked in at the bottom. The waist approaches a skirt can be substituted for the cloth waistcoat.

Novel Scheme for Posing Article

Before the Public.

A new form of advertisement, involving the use of an entire train of Pullman cars, has some picturesque features. The train is to be filled with exhibits of the leading products. It is to make a trip extending over six months, and embracing cities of from 10,000 to 75,000 population. The representative of any firm exhibiting can travel on the train, in order to arrange to meet any local merchants, show samples and do business. For a concern without a representative on the train, arrangements will be made by correspondence to have any merchant in the cities visited meet the train en route. The train will consist of twelve cars (ten exhibition cars, a hotel car and a baggage car), lighted by electricity and heated by steam. The baggage car will contain the electric lighting plant, and will carry advertising matter for the exhibitors in limited quantity. Luxurious provision will be made for the reception and entertainment of visitors. An advance man will be sent on to every town, to "paper" and "lithograph" it to the particular extent desired by any exhibitor. Exhibitors can send as many representatives as they like on the train, but all personal and transportation expenses must be paid by them. If the accommodation on the train does not suffice, an extra train will be provided. It seems rather hard to confine the attractions of such a unique jaunt to the sterner sex, but the rule made by the management is inflexible: "Men only will be permitted as representatives, it being impossible to make accommodations for women." The train will be open to the merchants of the cities visited up to 12 o'clock, after which it will be thrown open to the public during the afternoon and evening. A record is to be kept of the number of persons visiting the train at each city, put into bulletin form and mailed to the principal office of each exhibitor, with any other information of commercial importance. Intending exhibitors are assured that the train will be made in every respect "as attractive as possible," and as a finishing touch to the spectacular feature of this novel undertaking, the whole train will be painted white and gold.—St. Louis Republic.

DOG OR BURLGAR.

One Gentleman Thinks the Latter Would Be Cheaper.

Whether it is cheaper to hire a burglar or keep a dog is the problem which is confronting a gentleman at St. Anthony park. The other evening he went out with his wife for an hour or two, leaving the dog of the household on guard. The presence of the dog in the house was thought to be a sure preventive of the burglary disease, and so it proved, indeed, but it served to introduce a new difficulty as troublesome as that which the crafty crackman is supposed to carry about with him in his kit of evil tools. The dog amused himself in a very entertaining style all the evening. In the first place he tore the covering off from a fine lounge and ripped its handsome cloth into sorts of size and pieces. He was evidently quick in touch with upholstery, but he was also somewhat of a connoisseur in hangings and draperies, and, not liking the general appearance of the lace curtains, he proceeded to tear them down and chew them up with that peculiarly delightful doguish abandon which is so characteristic of the race.

But even a lace curtain and a big lounge didn't satisfy his appetite, so he pulled down a fine fur cape, which was hanging in the hall, and literally chewed it into bits. The fur was a sort of a change in the bill of fare, and pleased the canine epicure mightily. After he had satisfied his craving for fur, he took a look about for some other choice edible, and, as his eye lighted on a rug, he determined to give it a fair trial as a medium of satisfying his hunger. He found the rug a trifle heavy for his digestion, but managed to tear it up to some degree, and then left it.

When the gentleman and his wife returned the house looked as if a small, but vigorous, cyclone had been swirling around. The dog was as contented as could be, and had very admirably barked off the burglars. It will take at least $75 to repair the damage caused by the playful dog. Said the gentleman, in commenting on the affair:

"It strikes me it would be better next time to hire a burglar to come in and steal what he wanted than to leave the dog on guard."—Minneapolis Journal.

Size in Hats.

A size in hats is one-eighth of an inch. According to the English method, the smaller diameter of the head is taken as a starting point. One-eighth of an inch increase in the shorter diameter makes a little more than three-eighths in the circumference. The French and German makers have a rule slightly different from this.

THE ENGLISH DRAMA.*THE ENGLISH DRAMA.

Its Origin and Early History—The Miracle Plays.

James A. Herne, the old-time actor, who combines with his presentation of Shore Acres a tendency to stage reminiscence in the lecture field, recently delivered a lecture in Kansas City on "The Theatre as It Is." He remarked: "The theatre is a factor of society just as much as the church, and it is an educator, and its influence is for good and not for evil." To which a writer in the Cleveland Leader, taking mild exception, says that it should be overlooked that the English drama began in the church in the form of miracle plays, a pantomimic method of imparting religious instruction, as well as social entertainment. It was introduced by the clergy; the priests were the first actors, and the churches were the first theaters. The subjects were taken from Scripture history and the lives of the saints, and the representations known as mysteries and miracle plays were little else but acting (pantomime), for long before Tennyson's day it was recognized that "things seen are mightier than things heard," and these sublime object lessons were presented to the public 200 years before they began to be literary. The spectacle was aided by the use of English words in the fourteenth century, and though town guilds undertook the performance, the church was still the producer of these religious plays. In the early part of the fourteenth century the pope gave a monk leave to write a set of 35 miracle plays in English. They began with "The Downfall of Lucifer" and ended with "Dives and David." It is well known that Milton's first intention with his subject of "Paradise Lost" was to treat it as a miracle play, and he had actually made a commencement.

The morality came in later than the miracle play. This new story, in the direction of the English drama was made in the fifteenth century in the reign of the "Holy Henry," and was under the special patronage of that good man, who founded and equipped England's first grammar school (as preparatory schools were called even as late as our colonial days), within sight of the windows of Windsor, that he might see it grow, and later, watch the boys at their play.

The morality was allegorical, and taught some lesson of duty or virtue through such actors as Benevolence, Honor, Retribution, etc. The virtue, of course, triumphed, and the vice (out of which grew the down of comedy) was in the end defeated and humiliated. Like all religious teaching, the morality failed to attract those who most needed its lessons, and the practice was introduced of enlivening the entertainment by interpolating humorous scenes, designed to attract and hold the audience together. These interludes took the place of the Christmas tree and the Sunday-school picnic to the modern unenlightened, and from them, of course, grew the play as an amusement.

John Skelton, at the court of Henry VII., wrote an elaborate morality entitled "Magnificence." So prominent a churchman as Erasmus styled him "the grace and glory of English scholars." He had the courage to attack the court (of Henry VIII.) in "Colin Clout," and the prime and favorite, Wolsey, in a later poem. He was the first to suggest that he was obliged to "take sanctuary" in Westminster, where he remained a prisoner till his death.

The first historic play, "King John," was written by a bishop, John Bale.

The first English comedy was written by Nicholas Udall, head master of Eton school, and acted (1551), but seven years before Elizabeth came to the throne; yet the Elizabethan age produced the drama at its height. This miraculous birth of a full-blown Athens from the brain of a single age would be unaccountable did we forget that the roots of the English drama had been in nurture 400 years.

The first English tragedy, Sackville's "Gorboduc," was put upon the stage in 1561.

John Still, who was afterward made bishop, continued Udall's comedy, under a new name, and here we come to the full efflorescence of Elizabeth's day in Marlowe, Ben Jonson and Shakespeare.

The First English Book.

The first book written in the English language, that is, after the Saxon and assumed a form as now called English, was the "Travels of Sir John Mandeville." This book is remarkable from the fact that it shows a clear and correct idea of the shape of the earth, and that it is possible to travel round and return to the starting point from the opposite direction, thus anticipating the discovery of Columbus by nearly a century and a half.

HERE AND THERE

Born to the wife of Mr. J. V. Johnson a fine boy Sunday morning.

Mr. W. H. Reeder has opened a store near Concord.

Dr. E. N. Fruit, Dentist, office over City Bank, Hopkinsville, Ky.

E. B. Frost, of Madisonville, was struck with paralysis last week and is critically ill.

Twenty shares of stock in Bradshaw turnpike for sale. Pays 8 per cent semi-annually.

Bill boards for the coming circus are being put up all over town. It is due in about five weeks.

Unless more rain interferes corn planting will be put through in a rush this week.

Mr. Clem Davis, of Concord, who has been very ill with typhoid fever for several weeks, is reported better.

Our esteemed contemporary, the New Era, got out a very handsome Easter edition Saturday, printed in colors and twice the usual size.

It is reported on good authority that Harry Tandy, of Paducah, will shortly be married to a Paducah heiress.

Postmaster W. A. Wigous, colonel of this division of the United States Knights of Pythias, will go to Seabree to-morrow night to muster in a new lodge.

If you want Barred Plymouth Rocks that are Buano Plymouth Rocks, place your order for eggs with Rodman Meacham, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Carl C. Moore is doing a big business in pure bred poultry and is shipping his Indiana Game eggs all over the South. His chickens are the best that money can buy.

Easter Sunday was as pretty a spring day as the sun ever shone upon. It was the most delightful day of the pleasant month of the year.

The new Methodist church at Kinkmansville will be dedicated the Second Sunday in May. Dinner will be on the grounds for all who attend. Everybody is invited.

Rufus Crabtree, who used to clerk in the grocery store of the late M. W. Grissam, in this city, fifteen years ago, is now running a laundry in Louisville and his card contains the name of "R. N. C. O. Crabtree." He is doing well.

Dr. J. L. Dulin has gone to Madisonville where he will make his future home. The Doctor has lived some years at Hecla, and looked to the needs of the afflicted at that place, but the Hecla people would not get sick enough often enough. However, Dr. Dulin will continue his Hecla practice as formerly.—Earington Bee.

City Assessor George Bradley is now making his annual assessment of city property and at the same time taking the school census. If it is possible to do so, the Democratic council should try to reduce the city tax a some this year. The Republicans at Frankfort have just increased the state tax rate nearly 2 per cent, and the tariff robbers at Washington are determined to pile up living expenses mountain high, by increased tariff taxation. The Republican assessment of property in Livingston County is outrageously high and there appears to be no hope of relief for the oppressed people except through the Democratic party. The Democratic fiscal court has reduced the county rate from 50 cents to 42 cents and now let the council also lighten the burden of the taxpayers, at least during this year of hard times and falling prices. Even a little decrease would be in contrast to the Republican plan of piling up the taxes higher every year.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort and knowledge, to note when you are sick, are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a complicated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health, that its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be contented with the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

TOBACCO NEWS.

(Reported by J. H. Eggleston, of Dunsmuir & Eggleston Co., who has been in order of dealer in and handler of leaf tobacco.)

HOPKINSVILLE MARKET.

April 15, '97.—Large receipts, and very strong market, with an upward tendency on all Broom, Italian and Austrian styles, throughout the week, on tobacco in good condition, were the leading features this week.

The market was decidedly the strongest one of the season. The offerings were an improvement over the previous week. However, there were plenty of orders for everything on sale, and there was a strong fight over the Bremen styles throughout the week for all in good order.

Since the sample lot has gone forward and been examined the trade is very much disappointed. However, any one wanting tobacco will have to take the best they can get, and make the best of it they can, as this is a crop very disappointing all round.

12 sh. lugs not fit for Spain was the only thing that was apparently neglected, and quote them near inside figures. Condition of the weather is still very unseasonable for the time of year, scarcely any farm work having been done as yet, and too early to give any definite opinion as to the planting of the crop.
